Subject: Re: Surface sediment sampling oversight deliberative

---

Hi Sean,

We decided after hours yesterday to have Jason go out this morning on the Cayuse to observe the random stratified sampling. He will just spend the morning there and disembark at lunch. Then resume oversight Monday.

Thanks,
Howard

At this point I'd say we can take today off and pick things up Monday - thanks everyone!

Sean and Davis,

Jason and Andy reported back that the sediment sampling work went well today and they had no health and safety or data collection quality issues to report. Both vessels were down near RM 2 doing random stratified sampling and will continue that through the weekend. The only difficulties they had was on the east side of the river they encountered some rock and had to implement their contingency grabs to get the three point composite sample. On the west side it was all fine sediment and easier sampling. Although the crews are doing well and following the FSP and HASP, it is only the first day of sampling and you might want us to continue oversight tomorrow to confirm the work. We have staff available to go out tomorrow for oversight if you would like.

Thank you,
Howard
